comply with all applicable Contra Costa County requirements. No change to the building footprint or occupancy; no foundation lifting is proposed.

The site is already cleared for a separate remodel, and work areas will be isolated. Prior to excavation, public utilities will be located; private utilities (e.g., sprinklers, satellite cables, low-voltage lighting, pool equipment lines, private water/electrical lines) will be identified to the extent practicable. A utilities protection allowance covers repairs limited to incidental damage in the immediate area; full-line replacement is excluded. No impact to public utility service is expected.

Installation will proceed by excavating localized pits to expose and prepare footings; installing manufacturer-approved steel push pier brackets with friction-reducing collars and reinforcement sleeves; and hydraulically driving galvanized pier segments to competent strata. End-bearing depth will be confirmed through pressure readings per product specifications and engineering directives. The final number and exact locations of piers may be adjusted in the field to address actual conditions and achieve uniform stabilization. Once target capacities are achieved, piers will be seated and load transferred to brackets to stabilize the foundation.

After installation, excavations will be backfilled and compacted to best practical effort; minor backfill settlement may occur. Soil and debris will be managed and disposed of in compliance with local requirements. Work areas will be kept clean and secured, with erosion and sediment control measures implemented as appropriate. The contractor will coordinate required County inspections and provide the engineering package and product specifications upon request. The push pier system is designed to stabilize affected areas against further vertical movement for the life of the structure, subject to product warranty terms. Workmanship will conform to industry practices and applicable codes. No electrical work is included other than standard power for tools; the owner will provide access to electrical power and water.

All work will be performed by Groundworks California, LLC (CSLB License No. 1116054), 2333 Courage Dr., Suite C, Fairfield, CA 94533, in accordance with the approved permit and
